DID YOU KNOW?

- When Kevin McCloud, the presenter of the popular TV series Grand Designs visited Australia, a reporter asked him: was there a place that captured his imagination architecturally? McCloud responded, "I loved Cessnock in the NSW Hunter Valley. I photographed almost every house along the main road: 1920s and 1930s domestic architecture, low to the ground and with a veranda. We don't value that era in the UK, and we don't do ground-hugging architecture well."
- Coal was discovered in the district by William Keene in 1856. The Greta coal seam was discovered in 1886 by geologist Sir Edgeworth David. Subsequently, collieries were established and coal mining became the dominant industry in Cessnock City in the early twentieth century.

History of Wine

IN AUSTRALIA AND THE HUNTER VALLEY

Wine in Australia has paralleled the colonisation of the continent with vines, barrels, and bottles travelling to Australia in 1788 with the First Fleet. Rich and ambitious colonists held the philosophy that their vineyards and wine would have a civilising influence on the population.

An important part of achieving the vision for colonial wine growing was the supply of cuttings. James Busby carefully assembled grape vine stock from across which was planted at the Sydney Botanic Gardens and at Busby's sister Catherine Kelman's property in the Hunter Valley (known as Kirkton).

Before Busby returned to England in 1830, he had brokered the distribution of as many as 20,000 vine cuttings across the colony; including to George Wyndham in the Hunter Valley. By 1832, George Wyndham had a well-established vineyard maintained by convict labour (now known as the historic Dalwood Estate).

Early wine styles imitated those from the old world, borrowing from French and European styles such as Claret, Burgundy, Madeira, and Tokaji.

The Hunter Valley has been credited as Australia's oldest surviving commercial wine region.

In the 1820's through to the 1860's plantings extended to Pokolbin in what we now know as the centrepiece of the Hunter Valley wine region.

Some of the more recognisable names included Joseph Drayton who first planted vines in the late 1850's; Edward Tyrrell's first vintage was in 1864; Frederick Wilkinson planted vines in 1866, and John Younie Tulloch joined the wine industry in 1895.

In 1847, the Hunter River Vineyard Association inaugurated. Maurice O'Shea founded his vineyard "Mount Pleasant" in 1921, and during the depression forged an enduring relationship with the McWilliam family.

Maurice O'Shea's leadership was instrumental in positioning the Hunter Valley as a premium wine region. Produced in an era where fortified wines were the standard – the now famous Hunter Valley flagship styles of Shiraz and Semillon were championed without electricity, machine-driven cooling systems or any of the modern winemaking equipment used today.

TIPS

- Don't serve wines too cold. Numb wines have no aroma, and if we can't smell it – it won't taste like much either! We want to be able to smell a full bouquet!
- Hold the glass by the stem. Holding the bowl of the wine glass would only be to heat up the wine with your hands – for wines served too cold.
- Follow the tasting sheet set in order, or try to taste the selected wines in the same order. Tasting sheets are set up from light and crisp wines, through to medium bodied, heavy reds then to sweet.
- Tasting a heavy or high spirit wine will affect your palate if you go back to a fruity or crisp wine.
- Sorry! No mints, gum, lollies or soft drink!

AN EASY GUIDE For Wine Tasting

Visiting a Hunter Valley cellar door you'll find love at first... taste.

Visiting Hunter Valley wineries is not only a fun experience, you'll find special wines that are often smaller production, higher in quality and more interesting in style.

Here is our guide to helping you look like an expert when it comes to your cellar door wine tasting experience:

1. LOOK at the glass. Try and put a white piece of paper behind the glass. Colour of wine can tell you a lot about the wine. A youthful wine will have a different colour to an aged or mature wine, the treatment in oak can even effect the colour! The "legs" or the clear running film of wine that's slow to fall will tell you about the level of alcohol in the wine.

2. SWILL the wine. If you can't manage to keep the contents inside your glass, place the base on a flat surface and swill in circular motions keeping the base flat. Swilling opens up wine to air, oxygenation releases flavour as air excites the molecules in the wine – expanding the palate and the bouquet.

3. SMELL They say taste is through our nose, and so much of the enjoyment in a great wine is in the aroma. We call this the wine's "bouquet".

4. SIP Don't gulp wine! Wine is all about mouth feel, so don't rush it. Sip, keeping it on the front of your palate and then pull the wine through your mouth allowing it to show different layers of flavour. Pull the wine to the far corners of your mouth and take note of "mouth feel" as much as you do the taste.

5. SPIT If you are out having a wine tasting where you might taste a series of wines, it is indeed etiquette to spit after tasting! Don't feel embarrassed, simply lower your head to a spittoon on the counter and discreetly spit the contents into the bucket!

6. EVALUATE A good wine is always the one you liked! Take note: was it fruity, dry, acidic, tannic, light, lively or full bodied?

Be sure to ask questions about the wine through the tasting as the cellar door servers are very knowledgeable and you can learn a lot through the tasting. They may even have suggestions on what types of food to serve the wine with! Always consider making a purchase of local wine home to take home and share with friends and family.

Hunter Valley BEER TRAIL

Don't be CRAFT(y), it's just a HOPS, skip and a jump to BEER enlightenment in the HUNTER VALLEY. #huntervalleybeertrail

The Hunter Valley isn't just famous for wine, it also produces award winning craft beers. Boutique, handcrafted beers provide something extra special to explore. Refresh your palate and quench your thirst over an ice-cold local brew.

The Hunter Valley now has 5 breweries and a cider house. You'll love the Hunter's delicate Pilsners, robust Bocks, traditional Lagers, flavoursome Ginger Beers and bitter Pale Ales.

Along the Hunter Valley Beer Trail, you'll see how native Hunter Valley beers are made and gain insight into the operation of some of Australia's most boutique breweries.

Matt Hogan - Head Brewer, Hope Brewhouse

"It is an exciting time to be in the Hunter Valley as our reputation is growing as a beer destination of choice. The quality and variety of beers we are producing is exciting and we are punching out new seasonal beers continuously. We didn't win Australia's Champion Small Brewery for nothing!

At any given time, our taps are flowing with 12 different beers, from big hoppy behemoths to smooth session lagers and everything in between. Come and join us for a beer tasting on tap or take home something cold frothy in a can. We even have a beer club for the discerning customer!"

Scott Hayward - Head Brewer, Lovedale Brewery

"Setting the trend for a craft beer offering to supplement the core wine business of the Hunter, the Lovedale Brewery is 100% independent and uses only the finest of natural ingredients. Housed in the Crowne Plaza Hunter Valley, the brewery adds broader tourism appeal to the Hunter and is open for tours by appointment.

Sydney Brewery's sister Lovedale Brewery has been producing award winning craft beer and cider in the Hunter Valley for nearly five years now. Lovedale's flagship beer Lovedale Lager, has won 3 Trophies in local and international competition since 2014, along with a swag of Silver and Bronze medals making it one of Australia's most awarded beers."

Be responsible, don't drink and drive. Approximately 5 tastings of 20ml of standard wines at 13% alcohol (to volume) will equal one standard drink. Look out for the standard drinks symbol which shows how many standard drinks the bottle contains.

0.05 is the legal alcohol limit for most drivers excluding learner and provisional licenses which have a zero alcohol limit.

LOCALS ON TOUR: Have someone else do the driving! Did you know that as a local, you might be eligible for cut-rate winery tours? Take advantage of iHOP's coupon on page 47.

Be sure to use the Tours section of the business directory on page 60 of this guide to find a local tour operator for your next Hunter Valley day out. Some tours even let you select where you and your guests might like to visit.

ADVENTURE

For the Whole Family

Australia's oldest wine region offers more than just premium fine wines, gourmet delights and a beautiful vineyard setting. In Cessnock City, there is so much to explore.

If you're looking for adventure, you'll find everything from Helicopters to Hot Air Balloons, Rally Cars to Go-Karts, Sky-Diving to Drive-Ins (yes the old fashion kind!), Trikes to Electric Bikes, Mini-Golf to Meerkats – and everything in between! All in Cessnock City!

Tour the famous Hunter Valley Gardens, visit the Hunter Valley Zoo, unwind with a round of golf, and seek out the galleries and local artisans products. The Hunter Valley is surrounded by untouched natural landscape and beautiful scenery where you can go bushwalking, four-wheel driving, or mountain biking. Explore our rich heritage by visiting convict relics, see remnants of our coal mining past and have an authentic Aboriginal experience.

MEET THE LOCALS

Margaret Bancroft - Owner, Hunter Valley Horse Riding and Adventures

"We are a local family owned and operated business. Our property is easy to find in Lovedale, yet very secluded. Our trails offer magical views and a mix of rural and natural scenery across the unique and beautiful Molly Morgan Ranges in Hunter Valley Wine Country.

Our horses all have unique personalities, and our team take great care to ensure you have a great horse riding experience. We have a whole range of sizes from the miniature horses to ponies, draught horses and some of the most passive, and easy to ride horses you've ever met. We also offer sunset horse rides and you are almost guaranteed to see kangaroos – a great souvenir for your overseas guests!

Our visitors all say they had the best ride they've ever had on our riding trails! A lot of people come back again and again! We do trail rides, marriage proposals, ladies' days, and can host children's parties. Paddle go karts are great for all ages and Tractor Hay Rides to feed the animals are a huge delight for all the kids (big or small!)"

Hire a bike for the day

Next day out with the family, why not choose to explore more of our region?

Peter Meddows - Chairman, Richmond Vale Railway Museum

"Richmond Vale Railway Museum is a family friendly destination, with full-sized steam train rides and special events through out the year. The incredible support we received from the community and the corporate sector has allowed us to re open following the devastating fire in September 2017.

We offer a unique experience being located at the former Richmond Main Colliery site, especially if you enjoy steam trains, local history and family fun."

Scott Cubis - PGA Golf Professional, Cypress Lakes Golf and Country Club

"We are so lucky to live in a great golfing capital of Australia!

Join me at Cypress Lakes Golf and Country Club for relaxing round of golf. Come along and tee off in the driving range, or improve your swing in a one-on-one lesson with myself.

At Cypress we offer a spectacular 18 hole course and arguably the best primary golf membership in NSW."

WALKING TRAILS and Scenic Lookouts

1. Intermediate option for moderate walkers with appropriate equipment:

Werakata, Abernethy Dam, remains of Aberdare South Colliery

The suggested walk takes approximately 50 minutes for a moderate walker to complete 3.85 kilometers. The trails can be quite hilly and expect uneven grounds. This site is highly decorated with informal and narrow trails through the bush. There are no signposted walking or interpretive signs.

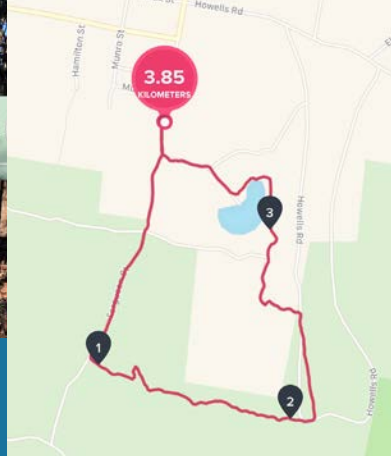
1. Start in Abernethy Township. Park your vehicle on the turning circle at the left of Abernethy House at the very end of Ferguson Street. Abernethy is located 8 kilometres south-east of the town of Cessnock, NSW and is adjacent to Werakata State Conservation Area and ▶ the Aberdare State Forest. The town was laid out in 1906 and the mine commenced operation in 1913.

2. By foot, continue into Werakata State Conservation Area. Head South, continuing on the unsealed road into the denser bushland. Follow the road straight and approximately 1 km in. Once you see the Werakata State Conservation Area sign, still continue straight, but turn left (East) onto the third trail. (This trail will be the second trail after the sign, wide enough to provide 4WD access).
3. Follow this trail East. The trail will be windy and narrow in some places. At the next intersection, choose the right turn. Walk past car wreckages, and down and up through an eroded gully. Continue straight. Continue straight through the next 4-way intersection, continuing on East you will encounter a second, steeper eroded gully. Make your way through and continue straight. After around 1km from the very first turn, you will come across an open corridor which is overgrown and on the left, sunken with reeds and dense foliage.

DID YOU KNOW? The Abernethy Hotel was built in 1927 and the adjacent mine closed in 1927.



There is a trail past the sunken area on the left, you'll see Power Lines, turn left into this trail and follow this road North.

4. 500m along, take the second left, follow this West and meander following the trail which turns Right. Follow this in a North direction for another 500m until you begin to see the outline of a tall Chimney Stack in the horizon. You may also see footings of former mining glory which remain in the dense bush. Approach the Winding House ruins.
5. The Winding House for the Aberdare South Colliery was in operation between 1913 and 1927. Now in ruins, neglected, roofless and overgrown, the structure still commands the environment and it is easy to imagine its former glory.
6. The Chimney Stack, is one structure that must be admired from a distance, but stands an impressive reminder of the mining history.
7. Continue onwards North, straight and venture left or North West towards the dam. The road winds around the dam. Continue to walk the trail with the dam on your left.
8. On the other side of the Dam, you can look backwards at the ruins of the brick structures, follow the pathways up the hill towards the main intersection to re-join your vehicle.

Kookaburras, Black Cockatoos, Yellow Tufted Honeyeater, Spotted Pardalote, Bellbirds, Ducks and Black Swans, kangaroos have been spotted in the area during the walk. Grass trees and many native species of flora can also be admired on the walk.

Adventurous and experienced walkers can return and explore the many trails to cross back towards the Dam at their leisure and skill.

- Enclosed shoes and 1 hour of supplies is essential. Experienced walkers would enjoy these trails.
- DO NOT swim in the Abernethy Dam.
- DO NOT venture in or around any of the remaining buildings or structures. Admire these from a safe distance.
- For geocaching enthusiasts, there is a cache hidden opposite the building entrance.

2 Advanced option for moderate walkers with appropriate equipment:

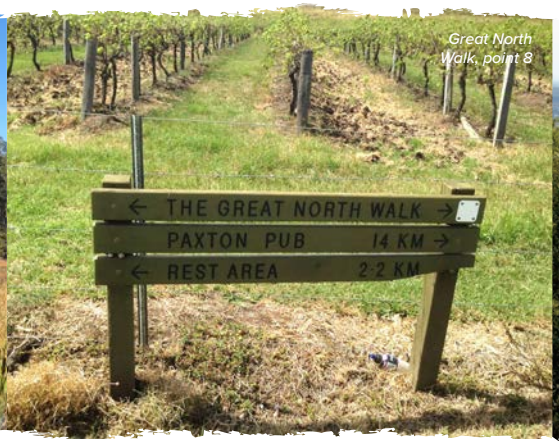
Great North Walk – Bimbadeen, Mount Bright Lookouts

Take in the scenic views from the Bimbadeen and Mount Bright Lookouts on this section of the Great North Walk. A beautiful outlook that overlooks the city of Cessnock and connects to bushwalking and mountain biking tracks in the beautiful Mount View sub region.

Great North Walk: Millfield to Pokolbin Mountain Road: 13.1 km one way and can take approximately 3 hours one way or 6 hours return trip. Best set up with 2 vehicles, leave one Car off Pokolbin Mountains Road near Tinkler's, and then drive all walkers to Shingle Gully Road Millfield.

This extended walk starts in the village of Millfield and journeys along a ridgeline path littered with fossils and shrouded by endangered bushland. The track continues towards Bimbadeen Lookout and follows the Mount View ridgeline to Mount Bright Lookout. It journeys north and then descends into Hunter Valley Dry Rainforest, one of the last remaining rainforests of its kind. The walk ends near Tinkler's Winery on Pokolbin Mountains Road.

Abernethy Walk, near point 8



Great North Walk, point 8

Bimbadeen Lookout

START

1. Millfield. Check for the Great North Walk starting sign and follow Shingle Gully Road. Follow the indicative foot signs.
2. Grass Trees and fossils - The grass tree (Xanthorrhoea) is a uniquely Australian plant. Bushfires will burn the foliage and blacken the stump, but then it regrows. The flowers are produced on the end of long spikes, which can grow up to two metres.
3. Great North Walk register - following a fence line through a cow paddock you'll come up to a register - pop your name onto the list and submit feedback!

Great North Walk, point 3

4. Walking down hill, be careful with footings, and cross fences with the footings provided. Follow the foot signs for the Great North Walk, moderate hills and beautiful scenery, interesting geography and rock faces.
5. Bimbadeen Lookout. Magnificent views overlooking Cessnock City, looking out towards the east coast. On a clear day can you see the sand dunes at Port Stephens? Traverse and safely venture from Mount View Road to Mount Bright Road.
6. Mount Bright Lookout - At the Mount Bright Lookout sweeping vistas of Pokolbin and surrounding towns can be viewed and enjoyed.
7. Keep following onto Pokolbin Mountain Road with a magnificent viewpoint reaching out towards magnificent vineyards littered throughout the rural setting.
8. Follow Pokolbin Mountain Road down towards lush grassy areas beside the Tinker's Vineyard.

Some sections of the walk are shared on roads, be careful around traffic. Enclosed shoes and several hours of supplies are essential. Experienced walkers would enjoy these trails. It may be preferred for users to have cars set up at either end of the trail, the full walk return trip can take up to 6 hours for a moderately experienced walker.

FOR ALL WALKS

RENOVATORS Delight

Have you been neglecting some home improvements, or feel like it's time to invest in an upgrade?

Improving your home can add to property values, enhance quality of family life, and restore a beautiful home back to its former glory. For an investment property, it can even increase rental prospects and return.

Renovating your home doesn't need to be stressful. Whether you just want to repaint, or add an extension, or redo your bathroom or kitchen – there is a local business who can help.

Tips for Undertaking a Home DIY or Renovation

Questions to ask:

- Are your renovations permissible, and will you require a Development Application?
- Do you need to discuss finance?
- Will you need plans drawn up by an architect or designer?
- How long will your home be a construction site?
- Will you need to move out or cohabitate with the renovation?
- Have you checked the builder and trade references, insurances and registrations?
- Does the fee proposal have any exclusions you may need to factor in?

Depending on the type of renovation you're undertaking, you may need to gain planning approval from the Council. A range of helpful information and fact sheets is located online cessnock.nsw.gov.au/planning-and-development/develop/factsheets. You can also enquire with Council's customer service on 4993 4100.

Value in Your Region
MARKET OUTLOOK

Stephen Annis-Brown – Licensee, Wollombi Real Estate

"The real estate market here is strong and has been for a number of years. Property in Cessnock City generally appreciates and offers excellent value for buyers compared to other regions a similar distance from Sydney and the Coast.

There is no question about the desirability of Cessnock City's outer lying rural villages. The high demand for quality land with a rural village atmosphere sustains the positive market outlook for our region. People increasingly want to live in lower density rural residential environments with easy access to the Lower Hunter, Central Coast, Newcastle and Sydney.

You simply can't beat our region for the quality of lifestyle and sense of community with the Wollombi Valley living up to its well-deserved reputation as being 'naturally beautiful'.

Ellalong, Millfield, Quorrobolong and outer villages are all attracting interest from potential residents seeking a unique, relaxed lifestyle with untouched natural surrounds at a competitive price.

Our region offers a variety of lifestyle opportunities in an unspoilt environment, still easily accessible to larger centres with the added attraction of connected communities.

The people moving into the region come to find this a wonderful and valuable asset."

James Harvey – Licensee, Sternbeck's Real Estate

"The 'heartbeat' of the Hunter ... that pretty much sums up Cessnock and surrounds. A glorious place to live where community awareness and mateship form an underlying pulse within residents.

Sternbeck's Real Estate has witnessed the transformation of our town and region over the past seven decades, from a country town to a bustling vibrant tourism mecca. In that time we have been fortunate to help generations of local families satisfy their real estate dreams.

People are choosing to live here because their research highlights the abundance of choice available to residents. A recreation destination, affordable housing, room to grow, a family friendly environment, great facilities, exceptional investment returns and so much more.

The growth of our town and the ever-popular wine region has been noticed throughout the world. The influx of new residents and investors recognising the exceptional value that our real estate market delivers, continues to multiply year by year. Cessnock City has proven to be one of the best valued investment propositions in Australia.

The benefit of using a local agent like Sternbeck's Real Estate means they will then give back to our community through donations and support of local schools, charities, service and sporting clubs, fundraising and community events and many more worthwhile causes.

Proud to be local and proud to call Cessnock home."

Project in Spotlight

CESSNOCK TACKLES YOUTH UNEMPLOYMENT

Youth unemployment in the Hunter region (ex-Newcastle) rose to an alarming 22% in November 2015, and was becoming a national issue.

Council's Economic Development team responded. They developed the Cessnock City Youth First Project and trialled the innovative model to mitigate youth unemployment.

The purpose of the program was to utilise existing Council facilities and staff, mentor long term unemployed youths, assist them into employment and develop a toolkit that could be shared with all Councils across Australia to use, potentially creating 5,000 new jobs nationally.

Three pilot programs were run, and in 2017 the program was reviewed in line with the lessons learned. The Model was documented and developed into a Toolkit for national application.

Since January 2018 when the Economic Development team distributed their toolkit, up to 50 Councils in Australia and New Zealand have advised they are to implement their own programs within their communities.

STERNBECK'S COMMUNITY NEWS

Since their earliest days in business, Sternbeck's has held a long term philosophy of giving back to the local community. In the last 20 years it's estimated that they have donated more than $250,000 to schools, sporting teams and community projects in the Cessnock area. According to Licensee James Harvey, it's about recognising and being grateful for the ongoing support the community has shown them.

> As we approach our 65th anniversary we realise how fortunate our business has been to survive and thrive in Cessnock and have decided to take our community sponsorship program to a whole new level.

"On top of the regular sponsorship programs we run, we're going to donate an additional $100 for every home we sell to local community groups.

We call it Sternbeck's Do-Good Dollars.

When we sell your home, you choose the community group you want your 100 do-good dollars to be donated to.

It's our way of saying 'thank you' to the people of Cessnock for 65 years of support."

Sternbeck's will be launching the program in line with the launch of their new website in July and there will be a dedicated section just for their community support programs.

If you'd like your school, sporting club or registered community group to be included on the list of donation recipients, you can call or email the Sternbeck's Team to have your organisation added to the sponsorship board.

Sternbeck's Do-Good Dollars
Helping our schools, sporting teams and our community to do good everyday.
